

The SJSU Math/Stats Colloquium presents:

Tadashi
Tokieda (Stanford)

A magic of twisting, pasting, slicing

Tadashi Tokieda grew up as a painter in Japan and became a classical philologist (not to be confused with philosopher) in France, before switching in late life to mathematics. He did his PhD at Princeton, and after many years as a director of studies at Cambridge, he is now a professor of mathematics at Stanford. He is known to the public for his videos on the youtube channel Numberphile, and is also active in the developing world, especially via the African Institute for Mathematical Sciences.

Wed Feb 26, 3-4pm
MacQuarrie Hall 320
San José State University

Seating is limited; to reserve your seat, please email:
tim.hsu@sjsu.edu